Product description

Baby Yoda Star Wars induction charger - licensed product

An inductive charger is a device designed for wireless charging of electronic gadgets, especially phones. The principle of its operation is based on the phenomenon of magnetic induction. The presented charger is a 100% original Star Wars product - verified by official representatives.

Gadget at a glance:

- aluminum housing - guarantees solid workmanship, comfort of use and makes the charger extremely thin, light and elegant
- LED backlight
- fast charging function
- the top of the charger is covered with a sheet of hard tempered glass
- maximally intense and durable graphics - a special pane of tempered glass guarantees amazing, deep colors and perfect reproduction of details. The graphics are located inside the charger, under the glass pane, thanks to which its wear is practically impossible, and the intensity remains the same throughout the entire period of use.
- parameters (diameter -10cm, input current 2Amps, power -10W, micro usb cable included)
- quality guarantee - product tests performed by official representatives of the brand guarantee its highest quality and safety of use
- safety of use - all chargers have REACH, Rohs, CE certificates and specialist tests for each of the materials used (the material from which the charger is made, paints, graphics hardeners, etc.)
- dedicated packaging - each charger is packed in a dedicated packaging
